

I am a Wireless Engineer retired from Cingular and appose the usage of cell phones on airplanes. The obvious is intrusion on people's privacy. The less obvious is the potential of RFI (radio frequency interference) to the navigation equipment, especially with more users, it will become exponentially harmful to communication. This would be an accident looking to happen!

Thank you,

Stephen Tripp